

LEVELJUMP HEALTHCARE CORP.

ESTABLISHING NEW IMAGING CENTER

Toronto, ON – September 8, 2022 –Leveljump Healthcare Corp. (TSXV: JUMP) (OTCQB: JMPHF) (FSE: 75J) ("Leveljump" or the "Company"), a Canadian leader in B2B telehealth solutions, is pleased to announce that its' wholly owned subsidiary Canadian Teleradiology Services, Inc. ("CTS") is in the process of establishing a new x-ray and ultrasound center. CTS has signed definitive agreements to acquire an existing Independent Health Facility ("IHF") license to operate a diagnostic imaging center, from a private Ontario vendor, as well as signed an agreement to lease a location in Toronto, Ontario.

The purchase price of the license is $1.4 million including $1.2 million cash and $200,000 worth of JUMP common shares valued on the date of closing to a maximum of 2 million shares. The Company has already paid a $60,000 deposit towards the purchase price and will pay a further $300,000 from cash on hand at closing with the balance to be from bank financing. The transaction is targeted to close on October 31, 2022, and is subject to several conditions, including but not limited to, required regulatory approval and securing an institutional credit facility to fund the balance of the cash portion of the purchase price.

The new center is to be called Yonge Sheppard X-ray & Ultrasound, and the Company has signed an agreement to lease approximately 3,000 square feet at the Yonge Sheppard Center, in north central Toronto to house the new center. The Company anticipates the new location to open in early 2023 and become the flagship imaging center for the Company in Canada.

The Company expects to be operational in the new location in the first quarter of 2023.

JUMP expects the new location to generate up to $2 million per year in annual revenues by 2024 and add approximately $0.005 per share in EBITDA to future annual earnings. The Company is raising its EBITDA estimates for 2023 to between $0.015 to $0.02 per share.
